THE Pennſylvania GAZETTE.

Containing the freſheſt Advices Foreign and Domeſtick.

From March 15. to March 22. 1732,3.

To the Printer of the GAZETTE.

Allenton, Feb. 19. 1732,3.

MEETING with what you publiſhed in your Paper from the London Journal, concerning the Queen's placing the Buſto's of certain great Men deceas'd, in her Hermitage, it not only pleas'd me exceedingly, but put me upon writing the following Lines, which crave a Place in your Paper. Yours, &c.

By a Lover of Reaſon and Virtue.

NOW bleſſed be this preſent Age,
Which exalts Virtue on the Stage,
And bleſs our Royal Race of Kings,
Which heavenly healing Balſam brings,
And adds new Plumes to Reaſon's Wings.
Immortal Honour crown Her Head,
Who doth ſuch Honour to the Dead.
Solomon's Houſe was not more grac'd
Than Hers, where ſhe thoſe Dead Men plac'd;
And She, by ſetting up the ſame,
Hath immortaliz'd their Fame.
Such Royal Vertue on the Stage,
May now create a Golden Age,
If native Sons of Reaſon's Loyns,
Search all the Stores of Nature's Mines,
To propagate thoſe bleſt Deſigns;
And Cato-like, think free, and ſtrive
To add more Honey to the Hive.

Norfolk, Sept. 9. On Wedneſday laſt died here Henry Bedingfeld Eſq; a Youth about Nine Years of Age, eldeſt Son to the Hon. Sir Henry Bedingfeld, Bart. of Oxburgh in Norfolk, to the great grief of that ancient and honourable Family; a Family who have injoyed the Honour of Knighthood above 300 Years, an Honour not granted formerly to any but of the Firſt Rank and Quality; and which is further remarkable, they have been Knights or Baroners by the Name of Henry, ever ſince the Reign of Mary I.

Folkſtone, Sept. 19. The Ship which lately come on Shore here was from Gottenburg, and bound for Lisbon: Of her Cargo, which was Iron, Deals, Maſts and Spars, very little was ſaved, the Country and Town People having carried off abundance. The Cuſtom-Houſe Officers, and the Servants to the Lords of the Manor did what they could; but the Country People are on all theſe Occaſions moſt ungovernable and inhumanely cruel, to rob the Unfortunate, and at the ſame time forfeit their Lives. She had 14 Hands and a Boy on board, of whom nine and the Boy were loſt, and five ſaved; among the former was the Maſter, who was ſafe on Shoar, and attempting to ſave his Child, was loſt, and when taken up had him faſt folded in his Arms.

London, Sept. 23. Letters from Bourn in Lincolnſhire dated Auguſt 30, ſay, that about 20 years ago a Miller, who had lived and married there, after he had been married about two Years, took a Diſlike to his Wife, and left her, who has been maintained by the Pariſh of Bourn for near 18 Years; during which time the Miller went to Colcheſter in Eſſex, where he married another Woman, and lived in good Circumſtances and Credit: The beginning of laſt Month, a Millwright informed the Inhabitants of Bourn where the ſaid Miller was; whereupon they ſent over two Perſons, who, by Virtue of a Warrant from a Juſtice of Peace, apprehended the Milller at Colcheſter; he preſently agreed to pay 20 l. down, and give Security for Payment of 10 l. more, for the Charges the Pariſh of Bourn had been at in maintaining his Wife, and promiſed to take her from thence in a little time: Accordingly on Tueſday the 22d of Auguſt he came for her to Bourn, where he bought a new Pillion, and on the 24th took her from thence behind him. The next Morning a Woman was found dead in a Ditch, ſtrangled with a ſmall Cord that would ſcarce meet round her Neck, with a Pillion ſome Diſtance from her, in a Place call'd Pilgate Field in the Pariſh of Barnack in Northamptonſhire, about eight Miles from Bourn. She was ſoon diſcovered to be the Miller's Wife; whereupon he was purſued by two Perſons from Bourn, who apprehended him the Monday following at Colcheſter; he was carried before a Juſtice of the Peace who examined him, and on the Wedneſday following he was carried to Chelmsford Goal; from whence he is to be removed to Northampton, to take his Trial at the next Aſſizes: The Corouer's Inqueſt brought in their Verdict, Wilful Murder, and ſuppoſed to be done by the ſaid Miller.

We learn from Holland, That one of the Dikes made to reſiſt the Sea, not far from the City of Amſterdam, is judg'd irreparable, and therefore another Dike is to be made ſome Diſtance behind it; by which a Village or Two will be left to the Mercy of the Seas. The Dutch have heretofore encroach'd upon the Ocean, and now the Ocean is like to recover its ancient Limits; ſo that we may ſay, the Dutch begin to loſe Ground.

On Sunday about Two in the Afternoon, was a Lodge of Free and Accepted Maſons, at the Roſe Tavern in Cheapſide, where in the Preſence of ſeveral Brethren of Diſtinction, as well Jews as Chriſtians, Mr Edward Roſe, was admitted of the Fraternity, by Mr. Daniel Delvalle, an eminent Jew, the Maſter Capt. Wilmot, &c. who were entertained very handſomely; and the Evening was ſpent in a Manner not infringing on the Morality of the Chriſtian Faith.

London, Sept. 29. By the Groyne Packet, which arrived Yeſterday, came an Affidavit from a Spaniard, made at Vigo the 6th of this Month, before Timothy Harris, Eſq; the Engliſh Conſul, importing That in the Month of March laſt, he hired at Cadiz, a Sloop, called the Prideaux, Hugh Couch, an Engliſhman, Maſter, Burthen fifty Tons, to go from thence to Barcelona and back again, at ſo much per Month; that at Barcelona he loaded her with Brandy, Anniſeed Brandy, Silk Hankerchiefs, Shoes for Soldiers, Argol, and ſome fine and coarſe Laces; that he imbark'd himſelf on board her, but inſtead of returning to Cadiz, they ſailed to Cape Finiſterre, in Sight of which they forced the ſaid Spaniard and his Servant into their Boat, told them the Land in ſight was Cape Finiſterre, and they might get aſhore as well as they could: The Boat near the Rocks, overſet, the Servant was drowned, and the Maſter, with much difficulty ſaved his Life.

He has ſent over this Affidavit, in hopes, that if the ſaid Crew ſhould put into any Port of Great Britain, they may be ſtopped till they can be proſecuted. Any one that deſires to ſee the Original Affidavit in Spaniſh, may read it at Mr. John Clark's Bookſeller, under the Royal Exchange; and if any Diſcovery is made of this Affair, and Notice thereof ſent to the ſame Place, it may be a Means of retrieving the Reputation of our Navigation, which of late hath ſuffered Abroad very much, by ſeveral Acts of the like Nature with this having been committed, without any Satisfaction having been given to, or procured for the Perſons injured.

London, Sept 30. The Truſtees for ſettling the new Colony of Georgia, received a Letter a few Days ago, out of Lancaſhire, from, the Right Honourable the Earl of Darby, with a Benefaction of 50 l. per Ann. for ever, for ſettling poor Families in that Colony, and many more conſiderable Sums, have been lately paid into the Bank for that Purpoſe.

Hague, Octo. 17. N. S. By Letters from Petersburg, of the 27th ult. We we are informed, that the magnificent Gardens belonging to the Czarian Palace there have been laid under Water, and almoſt ruined, by the Overflowing of the Neva; and that the Flying Bridge over that River was born down by the Strength of the Torrent.

PHILADELPHIA, March 22.

We hear from New-York, that laſt Week arrived there the Snow Experiment, with about 80 or 90 Palatines. She came from Dover about the middle of October, beat eight Weeks upon the Coaſt and then put away for Bermuda, in which Time the Maſter and many of the Paſſengers dyed. She came out with 180, and brought in no more than as above-mentioned.
